NOTRE DAME PUPILS RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT AT CLOSING EXERCISES HELD IN ALHAMBRA THEATRE.

Closing exercises of the Notre Dame Acodemy were held on Wednesday evening in the Alhambra. The seating capacity of the large theatre was taxed to its limit with interested relatives and friends, who came to enjoy the splendid program arranged by the sisters of the academy.

The program was up to the usual high standard given by the convent pupils and showed a great deal of work and careful training on the part of the sisters. The program consisted of musical and vocal selections, recitations, tableaus, pantomines, drills and fancy dances. Every number was generously applauded by the large audience present.

Rev. Father Sullivan, after a few well chosen remarks, presented the following with diplomas of graduation: Lauretta M. Costello, Helen C. Boyd, Kathryn A. Boyd, Marguerite C. Cussen, Joseph P. Hahir, Clara E. Herm and Mona D. Walsh.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. Father. James A. Grant of Burlingame, who spoke in part, as follows:

Your pastor has asked me to come here this evening to say a word to the children and to you; and I cannot conceal the pleasure it affords me to comply with the request. It is a real pleasure to applaud a man who attains success in a work in which we ourselves are interested. We applaud the soldier who has done well for us at the front; we applaud the leader who has led to victory a cause in which we believe; and we who are Catholic, and who believe that the teaching of the Master and the greatness of virtue ought to be the first of all the daily lessons to be taught to little children in school, cannot but applaud the people and the pastor where a school is maintained to accomplish that most essential of all duties incumbent upon us. And today, when you bring to a close a long year's work and are gathered together to rejoice at what you have done for your children and to make, as it will, a solemn profession of your faith in this matter, I consider it a privilege to be allowed to come among you to give some expression of that faith and to the satisfaction we feel at the work you have done.

First of all, let me congratulate you on the fact that you have a school. To all who pass this way your humble school building bears eloquent testimony of the greatness of the struggle you are making to maintain it and of the heroic perseverance, against great When we visit a parish we like to see a good church. It stands for the greatest of all causes, for man was made to know and to love God and to live according to laws of virtue. And the church is evidence of the faith that is in the people and some guarantee of the lives they are living. We like to see good annex-buildings, like club-rooms for the young men and women, for they show what is being done to give them that later and very necessary development of Christian character which is, in itself, almost a certainty that they will make good in life. But we look with greatest eagerness for the school. The parents will not abandon God in this life; they have a firm grasp on their faith and will lead lives in conformity with it, and they will not be abandoned by Him in the unending life of eternity; but the little children, they have no such grasp of the fundamental truths of time and eternity and the purpose of life, and it is the long and often bitter experience of the church that unless there is a parochial school to give it to them, they will grow up in ignorance or indifference and that later, when they go out into the tempestuous sea of life, they will be engulfed and lost in the many conflicts of worldly strife and passion that will assail them.

A real parish then—the one that has a school and that is doing the work for the little ones; and today let my first word be one of humble but sincere congratulation to you all that alongside of your church there is the parish school and the community of good Sisters to train and teach your children.

REDWOOD WISHES TO SEE THE OLD LIBERTY BELL.

The people of this city are anxious to see the old Liberty Bell. Mayor George A. Merrill and Stuart A. Frank of the Board of Trade have sent a communication to the Liberty Bell committee, requesting that the historic relic be shown in this city on its trip to the exposition in San Francisco.

Edmond Levy, president of the San Mateo Chamber of Commerce has already been assured that San Mateo will be included in the itinery of the great bell.

Carpenters Elect Officers.

The Carpenters' Union of Redwood City, local 1408, elected the following officers for the ensuing term at the last regular meeting: President, Adolph Baer; vice president, John Reynolds; financial secretary, H. W. Lampkin; recording secretary, Chas. Beeson; treasurer, C. Cussen: conductor, H. Henning; warden, Pete Christensen; trustee, Dan Tatum; delegates to Building Trades Council, John Reynolds, H. Henning and George Christ; delegate to district council, John Reynolds.

Saturday afternoon the carpenters chartered Neuman's big auto truck and went on a picnic and barbercue to Franklin Point on the coast. Ed. Bullivant did the cooking for the party and Ed. is some cook. Blankets were taken along and the night was spent on the beach. The carpenters returned home about 9 o'clock Sunday night after having the time of their lives.

BUILDING AND LOAN HAS INTERESTING MEETING.

Twenty-four thousand and forty-three shares of stock were represented at the stockholders' annual meeting of the San Mateo County Building and Loan Association Monday night, out of a possible $39,117 shares. This was the largest meeting held by the association during its twenty-five years existence, and it shows an increasing interest in this organization which has afforded many wage earners a profitable means of investment besides making the building of homes possible to many others.

The old board of directors who have served faithfully during many years were re-elected as follows: P. P. Chamberlain president, Dr. J. L. Ross vice-president, H. W. Schaberg secretary, A. D. Walsh, Asa Hull, Cornelius Cullen and J. F. Johnston. A. D. Walsh and H. W. Schaberg will continue to constitute the finance committee, and Asa Hull, Cornelius Cullen and J. F. Johnston the security committee.

The report of the secretary showed that the loans of the association at this time amounted to $339,005.79 and that there is a constant demand for money for which the best security is offered. It was shown that during the past fifteen years, profits were divided among the shareholders amounting to $74,701.31.

Certain amendments are contemplated in the by-laws which will permit the association to do a larger and more profitable business. The amendments will be acted upon by the stockholders at a meeting to be held July 26th.

The 91st series of stock is now open and offered for sale. Investors are invited to purchase the stock which pays 8 percent interest compounded semi-annually. Wage earners particularly are invited to become stockholders.

Mail Boxes Impractcable.

Efforts have been made to have mail boxes placed at the depot for the deposit of letters,. the object being to accommodate those residents who live some distance from the postoffice. It was suggested that the boxes might be opened by the railway mail clerks and the letters would be sent on their way without loss of time. The fact that all of the mail trains do not have mail clerks has made the plan impracticable. Instead of hastening the forwardiing of letters they would often be delayed much longer than if sent to the post office. The department promises will be provided when the mail delivery is installed, those boxes to be opened by the carriers.

Methodist Church.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the subject of the sermon will be "Salt or Sawdust." In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a service appropriate to the day. The subject will be,"The Onward March of Christian Civilization."

Congregational Church.

Next Sunday at the Congregational church there will be Communion and reception of members at 11 a. m. The evening service at 8 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Stevens will speak on "The Ideal Man."

Marcus' shoe store is the sole agency for Hanan shoes for men's wear.

VOTERS ENDORSE FIRE BOND ISSUE

PEOPLE DECIDE BY VOTE OF 4 TO 1 TO IMPROVE CITY'S FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The days of the antiquated hose cart are over. The citizens of Redwood took one step further Tuesday toward placing their city in its rightful position with the other progressive and up-to-date cities of the state.

The election for the bonding of the city in the sum of $7,500 for the purpose of purchasing an auto chemical engine and other apparatus to improve the city fire department was carried by a vote of 4 to 1. As is usually the case in all bond elections, the vote was extremely light. Out of a total registration of 1300, only 568 persons, or 43 percent took the trouble to go to the polls. Those who stayed away, while favoring the necessary improvements, took it for granted that the carrying of the bonds was a forgone conclusion and their vote was not needed. On the other hand the opposition was out in full force and it is practically certain that every person who was opposed to getting Redwood out of its old rut, voted at Tuesday's election.

The bond issue was given its strongest support in precinct five, where the voters of Redwood Highlands, Wellesley Park and other outlying districts cast their ballots. The bonds were carried in this precinct 6 to 1.

The following shows how the different precincts voted:

Precinct No. 1—For the bonds, 118, against the bonds, 28.

Precinct No. 2—For the bonds, 127, against the bonds, 23.

Precinct Nos. 3 and 4—For the bonds, 88, against the bonds, 27.

Precinct No. 5—For the bonds, 126, against the bonds, 21.

Total vote cast—568, necessary to carry—379.

The victory Tuesday shows that the people were heartily in accord with the firemen and their chief, Joseph N. Winter, in their efforts to secure the necessary equipment for the proper protection of the city; and it further attests the deep appreciation of the people for the noble work and unselfish devotion of the firemen, who without any renumeration, have given up their time and risked their lives in the service of this city.

The victory is also a complete was called upon almost on the eve of the election to defend himself against an unwarranted attack by a "certain few" of the opposition, who accused him of having selfish motives in wishing to see the bonds carried. The overwhelming vote in favor of the bonds proved conclusively that the people took no stock whatever in the charges against Mr. Winter; but it does show that they were truly grateful to him for all he has done for the city and its people during the many years he has been connected with the fire department, and brought it up to its present high standing. It is to be hoped that he will not carry out his expressed intention of resigning as chief; the city needs him.

OUR NATION'S ANNIVERSARY.

Tomorrow marks another milestone in our national history. Once more the people of the nation, a people cemented by a common allegience, prepare to observe the anniversary of the promulgation of that masterful document which proclaimed to the world the right of all men to an equal voice in their government—a declaration which abrogated the dictation of hereditary princes and substituted therefore the authority of the citizen.

That the anniversary this year falls on Sunday—a day set apart from the turmoils of the world, would seem a fortunate—if not a prophetic—circumstance. Thus our people are given an opportunity for the contemplation of the calmer and more weighty significance of the day. Thus are we afforded an opportunity to seriously contemplate the weighty responsibilities which the dictates of humanity impose upon us as a nation whose influence in the affairs of the world is undisputed.

Born amidst the throes ef a struggle for the rights of men,—nurtured in the cradle of humanity, this nation has never yet entertained except in conflict defense of the downtrodden or the weak, and it is to be hoped it never will.

Not that we would advocate the policy of "peace at any price," nor that we can but admit the danger of unpreparedness to meet the responsibilities with which we may at any time be confronted. For the perpetuity of the institutions which we hold most sacred we must instill and nurture that spirit of true patroitism which teaches the individual that he must be prepared at any time for thes sacrifice which he may be called upon to offer.

Atherton station is not to be discontinued and the building is not to be removed. It is all a big mistake, one huge joke and a toilet is the cause of all the fuss. Half the population at Atherton want the toilet removed. One faction headed by Dr. Cluness, who was instrumental in having the toilet installed, wants it to remain, and the other faction, led by H. Flesh, hacker, is determined that it shall be removed. Both sides have taken the matter up with the railroad commissioners and have filed counter petitions. A hearing was to have been held in San Francisco yesterday, but owing to some unforseen circumstances, the hearing was continued for one week. In the mean time both factions are marshalling their forces for battle which will be waged before the commission next week.

OFFICIALS INSPECT BIG STEEL PLANT

Men Prominent in Industrial Life Inspect Works of Pacific Coast Steel Company

Of the many industrial excursions given by the various manufacturers with plants located around San Francisco Bay, that of the Pacific Coast Steel Co.'s last Saturday broke all record for attendance over three hundred and fifty guests visited the steel plant at South San Francisco and included representatives of the United States Reclamation Service, the State Department of Engineering, State Harbor Commission, Constructing Quartermaster's office at Fort Mason, City and County officials, many jobbers, purchasing agents, technical experts, engineers and contractors, It was certainly a fine compliment to the progressive men who administer the business of the Pacific Coast Steel Company.

A special train of six cars was provided by the company and left the Third and Townsend street depot at 1 o'clock. The trip to the plant at South San Francisco required but a few minutes and the party arrived just at the lunch hour, Refreshments were served which included special Pacific Coast Steel Company's pretzles, made at the plant from the best of their Open Hearth steel and tied into knots exactly like the famous German pretzle and almost as indigestable. The luncheon was topped off with excellent cigars.

After the lunch, the guests were conducted through the big plant by General Superintendent N. A. Becker and other officials of the company. A ten-ton magnet in operation on the scrap pile, and which plays with car wheels and other heavy pieces as though they were so many straws, attracted the first attention. Then came the big furnaces with their tons and tons of boiling steel and the sweating attendants. After the furnaces came still another part of the plant when thirty tons of moulton stel were drawn from the furnaces and poured into ignots. This was probably the most interesting and picturesque feature of the entire trip, and might be liken to a visit to the infernal regions. Motion picture men working two cameras, followed the crowd and filmed all departments of the plant.

In the rolling mill were hundreds of other men at work converting the original ignot into ½-inch square reinforcing bars. This operation requires the ignot, a ten-inch square of steel about five feet long, to pass through twenty-three rolls before it is delivered to the cutting platform in a continuous bar ½-inch square and about 200 feet long. Here the cutting, bundling and labeling are done and the finished product is stacked ready for shipment.

The officers of the Pacific Coast Steel Co, are: President E. M. Wilson; vice president D. P. Doak; assistant secretary, Ernest L. Houdlett; district sales manager John B. Leonard, and general superintendent, N. A. Becker. The company has its plant at South San Francisco in operation less than three years, but at the present time employs from 412 to 680 men. The plant has been turning out an average of 150 tons of finished product per day and has a considerably larger capacity. The product consists chiefly of squares from ⅜ to 3 inches, corugated bars from ½ to 2 inch, angles 1x1 to 6 by 4 inches, flats from ¾ to 6 inches, small channels and curb bars.

General Superintendent Becker is to be complimented on the efficiency that is manifest in all departments of the big plant, and which tors did :cmfw mfw cmfw cmfw even the sudden influx of 350 visiitors could not upset.

Happy College Romance.

TWO IMPORTANT CONTESTS DECIDED

Judge Buck Renders Decisions Involving Legal Points of Much Public Interest

Judge Buck on Tuesday rendered a decision in the suit of Dennis C. Brown against James A, Lee and his sister, Mary J. Lee of San Mateo, giving a judgment to plaintiff for the sum of $2500. Brown brought suit on two counts. First that the Lees owed him $4789.38 for money expended by him while managing their estate, and second, that they were indebted to him in the sum of $6000 for services rendered.

The opinion of Judge Buck is as follows:

"The complaint in this case has two ccunts. The first count is for th sum of $4,789.38 for money claimed to have been expended by plaintiff for the use of defendants between September 1, 1910 and April 1st, 1914. The second count is for $6000.00 for services claimed to have been rendered by plaintiff for defendants in managing the defendants property within two years prior to June 8th, 1914.

It is not much trouble to dispcse of the first cause of action for the reason that plaintiffs atorneys have eliminated that from consideration.

"A party may appear in person or by attorney; but when he appears by attorney, the later, while acting as such, has control and management of the case, and his sayings and doings in the presence of the Court concerning the trial of the case, are the same as though said and done by the party himself." Coonan vs. Lcewenthal 61 P. R. 940.

"The Court intimated at the trial of this case that all transactions between the parties in this action transpiring during the minority of the defendants, must be eliminated from the present action for the reason that all business in which defendants or their estate were concerned, was adjusted and settled when their guardian's accounts were settled. The decrees made at that time precludes al parties from recovering from these defendants at this time, anything prior to the time they became of age to-wit: October 18th, 1911.

Such is the law of the case as far as this Court is concerned. ? ?

Plaintiff's atorneys in their opening briefly admit as follows:

"Plaintiff expended all of the moneys claimed by him during the minority or the defendants at the special instance and request of both defendants."

"Such being the admission of the plaintiff's atorneys and plaintiff being bound by the admission of his attorneys, the plaintiff cannot recover judgment on his first cause of action.

In his second cause of action, plaintiff is within his rights. It is based upon services claimed to have been performed by plaintiff for defendants after June 8th, 1912 in managing at defendants request the affairs of the defendants for which services plaintiff claims the sum of $6000.00. From the evidence presented there is no question but what plaintiff rendered valuable services to the defendants at the time alleged in the second cause of action. There was money due from the defendants secured by their real estate for the payment of which they were being pressed and if this lien were foreclosed, their property would be jeopardized. Someone had to help these defendants in ordr to save their property and the evidence shows beyond and question that the plaintiff was the person who saved this property for the defendants.

He is entitled to be paid for such services what they were really worth. I do not think plaintiff is entitled to the amount sued for. Judgment will be entered in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $2500.00.

CITY ORDINANCES MUST RESPECT PROPERTY RIGHTS

Judge Buck on Wednesday rendered the folliwing decision in the the case of the People of the State of California against E, M. Moore of Burlingame:

"This is an appeal from the Recorder's Court of the City of San Mateo from a judgment finding the defendant guilty of a misdemeanor.

The City of San Mateo divided, in the month of September, 1914, the City into certain industrial districts, prohibiting in the district in which the defendant had and has his business. The right of the City of San Mateo to regulate all business relating to police or sanitary matters within its limits in the interest and further welfare of the people, is admitted.

There is a narrow strip of land, commencing almost at a pcint: in the City of Burlingame and near the depot of both railroads passing through that city, between the tracks of the U. R. Railroad Company and the tracks of the S. P. Company, and extending between these tracks in a southerly direction into the City of San Mateo. Some six years ago the S. P. Company constructed a spur track extending along a portion of this strip of land for a distance of about one thousand feet within the territory embraced in the City of San Mateo and extending to the Burlingame line.

On this spur track has ben established certain business, including the lumber yard of the defendant which is located on that part of the spur track within the limits of the City of San Mateo. The land between the tracks above mentioned, on which is located the defendant's lumber yard and the entire length of this spur track is one hundred and sixty-five feet wide. No milling is done on defendant's property, the land being used only for the purpose of storing lumber. It was suggested at the beginning of the hearing that the Court visit this property but on informing the attorneys that the Court had visited the property shortly before the trial, for other purposes, nothing further was said on the subject.

The business in which the defendant is engaged is not of itself a nuisance nor is it unsanitary nor is it offensive to the sense, nor is it dangerous by reason of fire. This narrow strip of land can hardly be said to be suitable for residencee purposes. The land being but one hundred and sixty fet wide and being between two tracks, that of the United Railroads over which pass some seventy trains daily and that of the Southern Pacific over which pass some 76 trains each day; it certainly is evident, even without an inspection of the premises, that it is not desirable or even a proper place tc build a home. The railroad company must have recognized this fact when some years ago it built a spur track onto this property in order that it might be used for business purposes for many years and in fact all the land required, extending from defendant's property, to the depot at Burlingame, has been and is used for business purposes. The defendant's property is on this strip of land near the line dividing the two cities. The cnly argument advanced at the hearing, in behalf of the people, why the judgment of the Recorder's Court should not stand was; first, the danger of fire and senond the noise caused by switching cars. The fact seems to show that the question of noise is imaginary as only fourteen cars were switched into defendant's yard during the year 1914 and I fail to see how there is danger from fire differing in degrees frcm other places. No maufacturing is done on the premises only storage of lumber and that in small quantities. I am well aware that Courts have, to a large degree, upheld the acts of Cities regulating matters of this kind but these acts of the city must be based upon facts warranting the City to act.

Property can not be treated sc lightly as to permit the City, unless upon a proper showing, to take away vester rights. It is so apparent to me that the question of fire and the question of noise cuts no figure in the action of the City of San Mateo in this matter and that I have searched, the record, in vain, to find some cause for the bringing of this action. From the railroad depot at San Mateo the defendant's property is nearly one and one-half miles north of the depot and at the line dividing San Mateo from Burlingame on a strip of property 165 feet wide, a railroad passing on each side of the property, a strip of land long used for business purposes and for a long time, has had a spur track for the benefit of business interests thereon and the territory from there, cnto the depot at Burlingame simply a business proposition. I, with such facts, cannot agree with the lower court and the judgment is reversed. Fortunately this matter can be submitted to the more enlightened judgment of a higher Court and if I have erred correction can be made.

Good Financial Showing.

The semi-annual statement of the condition of the Bank of Italy which appears in this issue of the Times-Gazette, shows an increase of about $2,000,000 in resources since this time last year. The story of the Bank of Italy is one of a continuous, steady and healthy growth of which any banking institution could well be proud.

WITNESSED ANTI-PETTONIC DEMONSTRATIONS IN ITALY

Harry Robertson, of this city, the son of Alex M. Robertson, the well known publisher, returned from Italy yesterday, after an absence of eighteen months. Mr. Robertson made his headquarters in Milan where he was under the instruction of Sabatini, the great voice culturist and had completed his work when the war fever had reached Italy and it was necessary to leave the country.

Just before Mr. Robertson took his departure from Milan, rioting broke out against the German residents and for three days the city was in the hands of the mob. The authorities seemed powerless to cope with it and before order was restored thousands of dollars worth of damage had been done to the stores, factories and private houses by the rioters.

"It was the worst mob I have ever seen," Mr. Robertson said, "and the most excitable one. The buildings everywhere were plastered with posters which bore the words in big type 'Morte a Giolitti.' I saw a German restaurant near the cathedral wrecked and the billiard tables and furniture thrown into the street and set on fire. One of the biggest silk stores in Milan called Citta di Como was also wrecked because it had a German Directorate. The silk was nearly two feet deep in the street in front of the store, and the street cars could not pass through it.

"The foreign corporations had to protect their plants and buildings by posting notices on the doors and shutters with the names of the owners or directors and stockholders and the Consular stamp underneath to show that there were no Germans or Austrians connected with the business. The American Shoe Company, which has stores in all the principal cities in Italy, had its doors in Milan almost covered with pictures of the American flag and escaped injury. The feeling was very bitter against Germany and Austria all over Italy prior to the war and was intensified after it commenced.

"The censorship was very strict in Italy after the war was started, and it was difficult to obtain any authentic news. The cities were full of German spies, and the secret police were hunting for them everywhere. On my way to Rome I met a well-dressed Italian woman in the train who was accompanied by her four children. She told me that the Austrian warships had bombarded Ancona, on the Adriatic, for three days and had seven aeroplanes over the city directing the fire of the gunners."

Mr. Robertson has completed his musical instruction and returns to his home state to begin his musical career. He has a fine tenor voice and it is predicted that he will become a great singer.
